au, aw, ai, & ay

One and Two Syllable Words
Real and Nonsense

The Teacher Support Hub

Games are a great way to reinforce learning. My students love playing games, especially reading games. They don't even realize they are learning and practicing the skills we are working on in reading groups.

This resource has 25 pages

- Color & Black and white
- 2 versions: worksheet & game
- Real and nonsense words included
- Skills: au, aw, oi, & oy

For the game, you will need:

- Print out the book for counters or you can use your own counters. I also included blank ones if you wanted to color your own.
- You will also need a dice or an online dice

I would recommend printing out and laminate game cards and book counters for multiple uses.

I hope you enjoy this game as much as my students and I do!

There are several ways to use this resource:

As a worksheet:

Print out the pages with the name on the top. Each student will need a dice and 6 crayons, markers, or colored pencils. Student will roll the dice, read the word, then color the box. When the entire worksheet is colored, they are finished!

As a game:

Print the set of pages with your name on the top. I would recommend to print on card stock and laminated. Each student will need 6 game pieces and a dice. Students will line up the game pieces at the bottom of each column. The students will roll the dice, read the word, and move the game piece to that place.

Game Piece suggestions: You can always use cubes, counters, game board pieces. However, I would suggest using small toys like cars, or figurines/animals you have that are the right size. Sometimes, having the right game piece can be very motivating for students.
